ALL READY TO GO ON AT ORPHEUM

Coll's Appearance Is Likely to Prove a Surprise to the Fans.

The eight men who are to take part in Joe Cohen's great inter-Service fistic tournament at the Orpheum on Saturday night, are all training hard for the event. Each one of them expects to take the long end of the purse for which he is appearing and there is no doubt that the affair will be about as clean and classy an evening's entertainment as one could find anywhere.

One reason that Jack Coll has not been heard of very much is that his name has been persistently misspelled by the papers. It was only recently that this great ball-tosser and athlete mentioned the fact to the official scorer of the Riverside League. Since that time it may be noticed that his name has appeared on the scores as "Coll" instead of "Call."

Under his misspelled name Coll was to have appeared at the Orpheum at one time, but the bout was off on account of the other man being unable to appear. Recently some of the officers at Camp Very spoke to Cohen about this man and asked why he was not given a chance. Mr. Cohen replied that the reason was that he had no idea that there was so much class being hidden under a bushel and he immediately proceeded to knock the bushel off the light by putting Jack on with McCollough.

While it would be invidious to predict that Coll will do anything very startling with McCollough, it may be prophesied without chance of being wrong, that the sturdy favorite from Fort Shafter is going to have something pretty hard to go against.

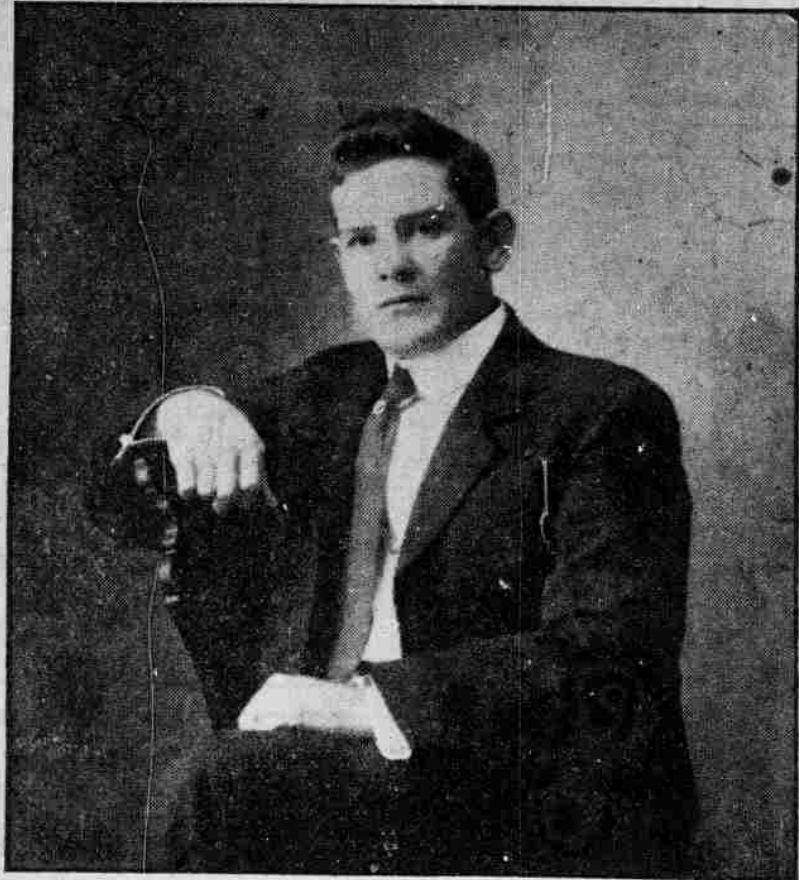

Coll is always in excellent condition as he is one of the most enthusiastic of the Marine baseball team and practices continuously. In addition to this he is fond of boxing as a pastime and may often be seen sparring with one of his comrades in the gymnasium at the camp.

McCollough, the man who has always been an anomaly in that he would hardly work at all before a bout and then go on and out enough punishment to sink a ship, is taking the coming bout very seriously. He will be in the pink of condition on Saturday night and, if Coll never met a hard one before in his life, he is certainly up against that same thing this time.

McCollough is, perhaps, the favorite among local preliminaries men. Now he has a chance in a main event over a longer distance than he has ever tried here and the result will be watched with great interest by the fans.

During the last year McCollough has appeared in public several times and has improved from a sturdy, but awkward scrapper to a boxer with a really good left and a mighty wallop in his right. At that, it is hardly likely that he will outbox Coll but, if he ever lands one of those things, friend Coll may see the stars shining and hear the distant note of the mockingbird, or is it the hummingbird?

Jackson, fresh from his race in Hilo, is very fit for his go with Sarceni and he announces in no measured terms that he is going to slip it to the Bugler. But Jackson was equally confident last time and was unable to hand anything to the slifty little Italian from Camp Very. Whatever the result of this bout it will certainly be a hummerino as there are no two cleverer lads of their weight in the Territory.

MAJOR LEAGUE PLANS SEASON

A meeting of the Honolulu Baseball League was held at noon yesterday in the offices of Thompson and Clemons. Present were Charlie Falk, E. Steere, E. Fernandez, U. Lemon, J. Wise and S. Chillingworth, representing St. Louis Alumni, Punahou, Kamehameha and Diamond Heads. Falk and Fernandez were appointed a committee of two to consult with the Rapid Transit Co. and ascertain if they are willing to back up the suggestion of L. Tenney Peck, that the league take over the grounds for the remainder of the year without charge to the league, except the expense of upkeep, amounting to about $75. The committee has power to act and if suitable arrangements can be made with the company a season of major league ball will commence on August

11. A game will be played every Saturday, commencing at 3:30 p. m. The meeting adjourned till tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. at the same place.

WARNING TO BE SENT TO STUD

The racehorse Warning, which was imported by Louis Warren to run for the Merchants' Stakes at Hilo, but which, unfortunately, went lame, will not be returned to the States, but will be kept at the Honolulu ranch for stud purposes.

This will be good news to Hawaiian horsemen and others interested in the development of the thoroughbred, for Warning is one of the best looking and most grandly bred horses that ever came to these shores.

He is by Previous out of Lida H., stands sixteen hands, and is a handsome dark bay with a white star on his forehead. His sire, Previous, won the Latonia Derby and many other good races, amounting in value to $34,904. He has sired a number of stake winners. Previous was by imp. Meddler out of Sunnyside. Meddler was imported from England to the States with an unbeaten certificate as a racehorse, and was the leading American stallion in 1904. Among others he has sired Tanya, Stalwart, Colonial Girl, Goldsmith, Previous and Intrusive.

Meddler, the grandsire of Warning, was by imp. St. Gatien, winner of all his races at two and three years old, and beaten but once at four years, and twice at five years, only three defeats in four seasons. He died after the Derby with Harvest in 1884, and won the Ascot Gold Vase, Ascot Gold Cup, and the Cesarewitch.

Meddler's dam, Busybody, won the Oaks, Rous Memorial Stakes, Middle Park Plate, One Thousand Guineas, and was sold as a three-year-old at auction for $44,000.

Lisbon, the sire of Previous' dam, Lida H., was the sire of Troubadour, Riddle and many other equine notables. He won the Louisville Derby and the Suburban Handicap.

Luella, dam of Lida H., was the dam of Danube, Deceitful, etc. On his sire's side Warning traces back to Stockwell and Newminster, and on his dam's side to such celebrities as Economist and Touchstone.

JACK CORDELL 'MAKES A FIND

Boxes With Hose Peter and Thinks Latter Has a Future.

If it were not for unexpected finds of pugilistic talent the great game might soon die out. Pugilists, to a surprisingly large extent, are born rather than made, and the coming world's heavyweight champion may today be working in some lumber camp, or hammering boilers at an ironworks. Honolulu is no exception to the rule, and from time to time she turns out some natural scrappers of more or less formidability.

Jack Cordell claims to have made the latest find in this particular line, and the man whom he thinks has the possibility of fistic greatness within him is none other than Hose Peter, the six-foot policeman, with the tremendous feet and the expansive smile.

Peter put in an appearance at Cordell's training quarters on Tuesday afternoon and asked for a chance to don the mitts with Jack. Nothing loth, the latter acceded to his request and was surprised to find that the big man possessed a very fine defense, was quite quick and could hit a blow like the kick of a steer.

Cordell thinks that Peter can be shaped into a good man. He says that his style of boxing reminds him of Bob Armstrong, a well known colored fighter who was at one time considered in line for championship honors.

Cordell cuts out boxing today, but will do his little trick along the beach as usual.

Sullivan will box today at Fort Shafter and will probably do a little light work with the gloves tomorrow. He stated yesterday that he is feeling better and stronger than was the case before his first meeting with Cordell, and that he expected to win in along about twelve rounds. He appears to be a shade the better favorite in the coming contest but the men are so evenly matched that it is probable that little money will be wagered until the day of the bout.

The sale of seats is progressing rapidly at the cigar store of Fitzpatrick Bros., and indications point to a good house at the Star Theater on Saturday night.

Sport Notes

The handball tournament at the Y. M. C. A. has started.

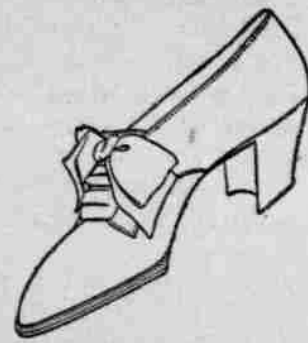

Charlie Reilly, the lightweight who fought several battles here, was beaten by Tommy McCarthy in a ten-round preliminary to the Young Corbett-Frayne contest.

The match race talk seems to have petered out.

There will be a meeting of the Oahu Baseball League tomorrow night.

The Oahu Baseball League games for next Sunday afternoon at the Athletic Park will be Marines vs. C. A. C. Seniors, commencing at 1:30, and Kaibis vs. Japanese Athletics at 3:30.

Word has been received from the Maui polo team that they prefer to have the coming tournament pulled off about August 11.

A Genuine Imported Russia Calf, Plain Toe, 3-eye tie.
